

Colleen Brosman

Principal

Colleen is a principal in The Bridgespan Group's San Francisco Office. She is a coach and facilitator in Leading for Impact, Bridgespan's two-year consulting and capacity building program, serving clients in Seattle and Los Angeles. Colleen also supports program development for the Leadership Accelerator, a series of online- and team-based programs for nonprofit executive teams seeking to sharpen strategy and invest in talent.

Since joining Bridgespan in 2012, Colleen has worked with a wide range of philanthropic and nonprofit clients, with expertise in strategy development, grantmaking, and philanthropic portfolio management. She has worked extensively on issues related to education technology, early childhood, and effective learning, and is a co-author of "Rethinking How Students Succeed," published in Stanford Social Innovation Review.

Prior to joining Bridgespan, she worked on corporate social responsibility programs for the American Chamber of Commerce in China, and taught fifth grade as a Teach for America corps member in Washington, DC. She holds a BA with honors from Stanford University, and an MBA from the Yale School of Management.
